

PeroxyChem's Global Health, Safety, Security & Environmental Policy

"Through the way we work and behave, the environment, our people, and stakeholders will be protected from risk of environmental impact, process hazard, and occupational injury."

First and foremost, PeroxyChem embraces - as a core value of our business sustainability - our responsibility to protect the environment and the Health, Safety and Security of our employees, our communities and the public in general. It is our intent and expectation that all our people, throughout our entire organization, will have an ongoing and determined commitment to continual improvement in the areas of Health, Safety, Security and Environmental stewardship. Nothing is more important than preventing injuries, providing safe and responsible work environments, providing a secure workplace, and driving toward an injury-free workplace.

It is our intent to be an industry leader and be recognized by our peers, by:

- Promoting and fostering ownership in our people of Health, Safety, Security and Environmental policies, procedures, and practices.
- Actively engaging our employees, suppliers, customers, contractors, commercial partners, neighbors, and other stakeholders in pursuit of world class performance in Health, Safety, Security and Environmental and to promote responsible management of our products and processes through their entire life cycle.
- Providing initial and periodic training to all our employees to operate the facilities in a safe way and to respond in emergencies to minimize the possible consequences.
- Meeting regulatory requirements, voluntary initiatives and promotion of "Best Practices".
- Openly and ethically conducting our business in a transparent and forthright manner.
- Pursuing a strategy to conserve energy and natural resources, reduce emissions and waste, and advance innovative and sustainable business practices.
- Providing the necessary resources and support to achieve and maintain exceptional performance in the areas of Health, Safety, Security and the Environment.

PeroxyChem supports the principles of Responsible Care® through management's commitment to operate safely and working together to continually improve the Health, Safety, Security and Environmental performance of our products and processes to achieve sustainable development.
